ONE CENT.

SAMEO'SONG AGAIN!

SEVEN MORETESTS

And No Nearer an Election Than on the First Day.

WAITING FOR THE GRAND JURY

DR. W. GODFREY HUNTER.

Special to The Public Ledger.

FRANKFORT, April 14th.

The Senatorial situation remains practically unchanged.

The negotiations between the Sound Money Democrats and Blackburnites are still going on, but there are few who believe they will amount to anything.

The Blackburn men made a new play by calling up the Bell-Crumbaugh contest, which has been slumbering in the Senate. Considerable excitement was created, as it was generally supposed that the silverites were going to try to unseat Senator Crumbaugh in order to get a Democratic vote for the critical period.

The sensation which the anti-Hunter men promise to spring before the Grand Jury is believed to be another part of the scheme to keep up excitement over the bribery charge and to enable the Grand Jury to postpone its report.

Seven ballots were taken, but no election resulted.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

It is with deep regret that THE LEDGER records the death of Mr. John W. Volsz, who made their appearance in Mason County. With the successful efforts that are being made to free all the roads in this county, it was hoped the people would be a little patient and not resort to lawlessness. Elsewhere the County Judge, as is his duty, offers a reward for the persons who destroyed several gates in this county a few nights since.

Long before 8 o'clock, the hour chosen by the Captains for the contest to close, Second street was crowded with people eager to learn the result, while the young men composing the working forces of both the contesting armies were hustling for the membership contest.

At twenty minutes to 8 Captain Kackley made his final settlement, while Captain Cox had turned in a goodly number a few moments previous, and all thought that would settle it and that the "Blues" were easy winners, but just before Referee W. W. Ball rapped for order to announce the score Captain Cox handed him a stack of red cards that fairly made the "Blues" witt.

The score was announced at 8 o'clock sharp, and here's what the "Reds" did to the "Blues."

REDS 111
BLUES 84

Upon hearing the score the "Reds" went wild, while the "Blues" took to the woods, those that could get away, and then the celebrating began in earnest. A procession was formed, Captain Cox was placed at its head and a march of about twenty minutes over the principal streets made the boys feel as if it was baquet time.

After reaching the Hall it was decided to go to the Hill House, where the contest would begin over on a new line—the seeing which army could get on the outside of the most of the good things that had been prepared.

The lunch was an elegant one, and all thoroughly enjoyed it, voting the ladies the victors after all and returning to their thanks.

After the baquet was over, then came the toasts. The long-meter Doxology was sung, prayer was offered by Rev. F. W. Harrop, and Captain Cox told the throng "How They Did It." While Captain Kackley told "How We Didn't Do It."

"The Ladies" was responded to by Rev. F. W. Harrop, and Mr. W. W. Ball told us "What We Must Do."

At the conclusion of the talk, Captain Cox then read an original poem, dedicated to the "Reds" by an unknown young lady, of which the following is a copy:

THE NIGHT THAT THE BAQUET IS SPREAD.

We, the brave Reds, Have come to the Hall, To see the true heroes far behind;

Though we're both in the fight For the same cause—for right;

We will "win there" the first they will find.

With the stars and stripes our colors bear;

The account of the score

The bravest of braves far ahead.

Oh! 'twas grand to see the blues

To roll up in their shirts.

The night that the baquet is spread.

Then they'll stand at our back,

Hang our hats on the rack,

Do anything else that we choose;

While we're all here.

At the same mean

To the vanquished, detected true blues.

But as they do no same

To make them win the race,

Well, we'll stand, but right ahead.

Oh! 'twould give us blues

To stand in their shirts.

The night that the baquet is spread.

Then they'll stand at our back,

Hang our hats on the rack,

Do anything else that we choose;

While we're all here.

At the same mean

WE'RE FOR AMERICA & AMERICANS!

FREE-TRADE vs. PROTECTION.

Comparative Figures That Ought to Forever Settle the Merits of the Systems.

The official figures of the Treasury Department at Washington are much better proof for or against any system than the unsupported declarations of Free-trade demagogues.

The Wilson-Gorman Free-trade Tariff Law has now been in operation 31 months, and THE LEDGER presents below the official figures, showing the total receipts from Internal Revenue during that period, compared with the total receipts from the same source during the first 31 months of the McKinley Protective Tariff.

The reader is left to draw his own conclusion as to which policy is best for the American people.

Loss in 31 months under a Democratic "Tariff for Revenue Only." $43,211,915.

It is estimated that since the Civil War we have paid to foreign ship owners a sum of money twice as large as our National debt was when the war closed—that something over four billions of dollars have been paid to foreign ship owners! Think of that drain! What other Nation but this could have stood so long? How much longer can we stand it? How much longer shall we stand it? The time to stop this frightful annual outflow of gold is now. Let us carry American freight in American vessels.

GOVERNOR BLACK of New York has queer ideas of the Civil Service business and has even gone so far as to send to members of the Legislature a bill embodying his views. In the first place he would wipe out the present laws, and put in the hands of the department chiefs the work of examining candidates, and require the applicant to answer only questions pertaining to the office for which he is an applicant. Why, Governor, if this were done it might result in getting some competent fellow into the office at once. If by your system a Letter Carrier were to be appointed in Maysville you might find one who knew what trains carried the mails; when they arrived and departed; who the Mayor was and where he resided; which streets ran North and South, which East and West; and how the houses were numbered; in short, you might get a carrier who would be able to deliver letters without having the Postmaster send a guide with him. Your plan, dear Governor, is such a radical departure from true Civil Service that it is positively dangerous. Let us stand by the genuine-pure-all-wool-and-two-yards-wide article, and require that an applicant for Letter Carrier in Maysville shall be able to tell just how far it is from Trutobek to Baskinlitzia, or to solve the very relevant problem as to how much powder should be placed in a dog's mouth to blow his tail off.

THE LEDGER has no suggestions to offer; but it is quite sure that Mr. McKinley will do exactly right if he undoos everything that Mister Cleve did.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN was rendered unconscious by the caving in of a plazza from which he was speaking at St. Augustine, Fla. This isn't the first time that Mr. BRYAN has been "thrown down" by an insecure platform—that of Chicago for instance.

NINE of Uncle Sam's prisoners, having served three months in the Frankfort Jail, upon leaving for their mountain "moonshine" homes, unite in a published testimonial to the kindness of the Sailor and the excellence of his menu. They say "All men that expect to get in jail should try to get in this jail for good fare." Certainly this is a first-class testimonial, and THE LEDGER pushes the good thing along, in the hope that some of our local patrons may be induced to transfer their patronage to the Capital City Bastile.

"I am not afraid of the opposition to my son's appointment," said Gen. Shattuck Wednesday. "There was a competitive examination and two colored lads one of them, Bundy, outstripped their colored competitors. He is, however, proved to be over 20, and was, therefore, disbarred. I had told them the competition was open to every eligible boy in the district. Bundy is the son of the colored boy I ever saw. Tuesday I sent his name to the secretary of the navy, and he will be appointed. I am not afraid of the opposition to my son's appointment."

Gen. Shattuck says he has 75,000 Negroes in his district.

"Let them resign and be damned," he replied. "I am not afraid of his appointment to the naval academy. He will naturally encounter at Annapolis owing to his color, he (Shattuck) will see him through. Gen. Shattuck says he has been in touch with the colored boy ever took a doghouse at the naval academy. Gen. Shattuck says he has 75,000 Negroes in his district.
